

Multi Room Sound & Video

It's great to be able to enjoy your favourite music and movies wherever you are in your home. We've a range of solutions that offer different levels of control and performance; so no matter what you choose they have one thing in common – they are all a real joy to use! So depending on your budget or required functionality we can help with a system that you're sure to use everyday.

A-Bus Systems

A-BUS® is a revolutionary technology that makes traditional audio distribution obsolete. Using standard CAT-5 cable, Russound's A-BUS systems transmit power and stereo music to amplified keypads throughout your home, extending your audio system to as many rooms as you choose.

CAV6.6 Systems

The award-winning and sophisticated CAV6.6 is a star performer. It works behind the scenes to distribute six audio-video sources to six rooms in your home. It's like having an entertainment system in each room.

iPort Music System

The iPort IW-1 installs in a standard electrical box and makes it easy for the entire family to use the Apple iPod® as a music source in a variety of local-zone audio systems. The included Wallplate allows the iPort to connect to and play through practically any local-zone audio system and a DC power supply (also included) charges the iPod while it is docked in the iPort.

FireBall MX-752 - Digital ONE with movies, music, & iRadio

Escient's FireBall MX-752 is the new standard for home theater and multi-zone a/v systems. There is no better way to enjoy your home theater than with the MX-752's ability to graphically organize and display your entire DVD, CD and digital music collection right on your big screen! With its massive 750GB hard drive and the ability to manage up to 2000 DVDs and CDs in external changers, the MX-752 provides instant access to even the largest music and movie collections through an easy to use and intuitive on-screen interface. Using the optional MP-200 Digital Media Player, you can access any movie or song in your entire collection from a different room in your home. The latest action thriller in the home theater and the kids favorite in the den - all at the same time!
